What are cookies

Cookies are small pieces of text stored on your computer when you visit a website. They are not programs and cannot be executed as code or deliver viruses – instead, cookies act more like a passport, which the site checks and updates whenever you visit. Most websites that you visit will use cookies to improve your user experience. Their functions include verifying your identity for security purposes; determining the type of browser and settings you are using or allowing site owners and third-party advertisers to tailor content to your preferences. Cookies are managed by your browser. Each cookie is unique and contains some anonymous information such as a unique identifier, site name, digits and letters. It allows a website to remember your browsing preferences.

Types of cookies

First party cookies

Cookies set by the website owner or service provider, by Us in this case, are called “first party cookies” and they can only be read by that site. Cookies set by parties other than the website owner are called “third party cookies”.

Third party cookies

Third-party cookies enable third party features or functionality to be provided on or through the website or service you are using (such as advertising, interactive content and analytics). The third parties that set these third-party cookies can recognise your computer both when it visits the website or service in question and when it visits certain other websites or services.

Session cookies

A session cookie is essential to ensure the correct functioning of the Website and is used to manage registration/login and access to reserved features. Session cookies are stored temporarily during a browsing session and are deleted from the user’s device when the browser is closed.

Persistent cookies

Persistent cookies are saved on your computer for a fixed period (usually a year or longer) and are not deleted when the browser is closed (unless deleted by the user before the expiry date).

Cookies Settings

You can set or amend your web browser controls to accept or refuse cookies. If you choose to reject cookies, you may still use the Website though your access to some functionality and areas of the website may be restricted. If you block cookies, you will not be able to use all the features on our Website and trading platform. You can also delete cookies already stored on your computer. Again, doing this may have a negative impact on the usability of our services.

You can delete all Cookies that are already on your computer and you can set most browsers to prevent them from being placed. If you do this, however, you may have to manually adjust some preferences every time you visit our Website(s) and some services and functionalities may not work.

We recommend that you leave Cookies enabled, as they allow you to access some of our Website's essential features. If you wish to disable Cookies, please be aware that the functionality of your experience will be reduced.
You can update your Cookie Settings anytime by visiting this Cookie Policy page, which can be found at the bottom of our website. Third party cookies can be disabled by removing them via the browser settings or via your setting preferences on the third-party's site.

For more details on how to control and/or delete cookies as you wish through your browser see aboutcookies.org. You can delete all cookies that are already on your computer and set most browsers to prevent them from being placed. However, you may have to manually adjust some preferences every time you visit our website or platform, as well as some services and functionalities we offer may not work.

For more information on which types of cookies are exempt, please see: https://wikis.ec.europa.eu/display/WEBGUIDE/04.+Cookies+and+similar+technologies.

Consent

By accessing and/or using our Website(s) and/or our services, you are consenting to our placing Cookies on your computer in accordance with this Cookies Policy. Please read this Cookies Policy carefully for more details about the information we collect when you use our Website(s).

If you do not wish to accept Cookies pursuant to this Cookies Policy in connection with your use of our Website(s), you must stop using our Website(s).

Important Information

If you disable one or more cookie categories, we'll stop using that type of cookie to gather any further information. However, we may still use information collected from existing cookies on your device. If you want to delete existing cookies from your browser, you'll need to do so manually from your device.

Updates

From time to time, Tradeplace may update this Policy. The revised Cookies Policy will be posted on the Website.

For any queries or further information in relation to this Cookies Policy please Contact Us through Customer Support, at support@investing.one.

Otherwise, for more information on how we are committed to keeping your personal information secure, please see our Privacy Policy.
